STEPHEN HAWKING

Stephen Hawking (born 1942) is one of the best known scientists working today. A theoretical physicist, Hawking’s work focuses on the theory of general relativity and the nature of black holes. Stephen Hawking was awarded the Franklin Medal by The Franklin Institute in 1981.